woman, wonder, month, govern, brother, another, shovel, above, Monday, discover
You can ask a grown-up to test you or you can create a sentence for each word to help you remember all the spellings. Is there a word that you keep forgetting how to spell? You can draw a little picture to go with it or write the vowels and consonants in different colours!
- Offline task: Enter the Wimbledon BookFest Young Writers' Competition. This year's theme is "The Secret". Write a short story or poem that matches the theme, being as creative as you possibly can. Your creation must be more than 100 but not over 500 words long. Make sure you type your story and send it over to your teacher by the 24th of April.

- Seesaw: White Rose Maths Lessons (Fraction Lesson 9, 10 and 11) and White Rose Maths Easter Challenge.

Topic Tasks

- Purple Mash: Touch-Type activities (Practice keyboard typing skills)
- Offline task: Biscuit dunking experiment. Put your science hat on and find out what is the best biscuit for dunking. You can use different kinds of biscuits/cookies to investigate how many dunks it takes for the biscuit to start breaking - the bigger the number of dunks the best it is for dunking! Make sure you keep your experiment fair by dunking the different biscuits in the same kind of liquid –if it's hot, keep it hot, if it's cold keep it cold, but don't mix and match as it will alter your results.

Online task: Take a virtual museum tour. You can choose a museum from the list below or a different one you've found online. Write down some notes during your fieldtrip – where in the world is the museum, the main theme of the collection, your favourite piece, etc.

If you are up to the challenge, you can record yourself on Seesaw, sharing your favourite sign so far or leaving me a secret message to decode.

Offline task: Ask your grown-ups how you can help around the house. Maybe you can help by making your bed every day, putting away the dishes, or sorting out old books and toys. Make sure that you keep a tally of how many chores you have done each day, and try to beat your score from the previous day. You can get an extra point if you help out in a way that you've never tried before! You can share with me your chore tally using Seesaw!
